A Dental Update on Vaping

With the transition from Big Tobacco to Big Vape comes new challenges for oral health professionals. Most clinicians understand the health hazards of a pack a day smoker, but how do you communicate and quantify oral health problems when patients inform you of their vaping pod use? Join me for a deep dive into the current vaping technologies, the changes in nicotine drug use and importantly and up to date literature review on the harms of vaping

Learning objectives:

1. Develop a broad understanding of e-cigarettes and the different types available in New Zealand
2. Be able to identify the deleterious health effects of e-cigarettes
3. Calculate the effective nicotine dose of e-cigarettes
4. Be able to provide science based information to your patient base regarding e-cigarettes
